

There's Light for a Step

Jessie Brown Pounds, 1898

John Sylvester Fearis

♩ = 92

1. Though sha - dows may co - ver the face of the day, Though
 2. Though mists on the edge of the marsh - lands lie low, Though 3. When in - to the val - ley the path - way shall lead, Where steep be the path that you climb, You ne - ver need stum - ble, you nar - row the path that is sure; Still light for a step will be dark - ly the Death - Ri - ver rolls, There still shall be light in your

Refrain

ne - ver need stray, There's light for a step at a time.
 yours if you go With tread that is firm and se - cure. There's ut - ter - most need, To guide to the man - sion of souls.

light for each step of the way, There's light for a step at a time; You There's light for each step of the way, ne-ver need stum-ble, you ne-ver need stray, There's light for a step at a time.