

Wherefore Do the Nations Rage

1 Where - fore do the na - tions rage and the peo - ple 2 But the Lord will scorn them all; calm, he sits en - 3 My LORD speaks, "You are my Son; yes, I have be - 4 There - fore, rul - ers, kings, come near, lis - ten to God's vain - ly dream that in tri - umph they can wage throned on high. Soon his wrath will on them fall; got - ten you. I will give you ev - ery one ho - ly word. Comewith rev - erence, come with fear.

war a - gainst the LORD su - preme? His A - noint - ed an - gered, he will then re - ply, "Yet ac - cord - ing of the na - tions as your due. From your rule, now Kiss the Son and serve the LORD, lest his an - ger they de - ride, and the rul - ers, plot - ting, say, "Their do - min ion to my will I have set my King to reign, and on Zi - on's let them learn break them with an i - ron rod, dash them like a quick - ly flame and you per ish in your way. All are blest who be de - fied, let us cast their bonds a - way."

ho - ly hill my A - noint - ed I main - tain."
pot - ter's urn, crush those en - e mies of God."
trust in him; yes, su - preme - ly blest are they.